PRETTY CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Fair of the Churches Presents Most Varied Display.

SECOND DIVISION IN CHARGE

Sales Are Brisk and Considerable Money is Being Raised by the Different Denominations for the Churches.

Tornado rag rugs, toilet articles, complexion treatments, home cookery, fancy work and other novel and attractive articles for Christmas gifts are being sold at the Christmas fair of the churches, which entered its second division yesterday morning with a new set of churches represented by the women who are conducting the sale.

The women of Temple Israel, Hartford United Brethren church, McCabe Methodist Episcopal church, St. Matthias' Episcopal church and the German Evangelical church have charge of the bazaar-booths for Wednesday and Thursday. They report that early Christmas shoppers are taking advantage of the central location, attractive articles and low prices which characterize the display. Sales were brisk and considerable money was raised from the sale of goods the women had made. All the proceeds of the sales go toward the women's church funds. The Bee having loaned its court free to the churches for the bazaar.

CASTS FIRST BALLOT IN M. AND M VOTING CONTEST

MRS. M. WICE.

To Mrs. M. Wice, 145 North Twentieth street, belongs the distinction of casting the first ballot in The Bee's $6,000 M. and M. Voting contest. However, Mrs. Wice was none too soon. Immediately following the first ballot came the nomination of many other contestants. Considering that the first announcement of the M. and M. contest appeared only three days ago, the interest already created is surprising.

In a conversation with the contest manager Mrs. Wice said: "I am glad I got such an easy start. I am going to make every day of the contest a vote-getting day." Mrs. Wice has the right spirit. That's the way to win.

Read the list of useful and valuable prizes published in The Bee from day to day. Make it a point to enter the race in time to compete for the first bonus prize—a handsome gold-filled Elgin watch. The watch will be awarded December 24.

GOLDEN RULE POLICY WORKS

Police Commissioner Ryder Pleased with Its Trial.

IS TAKEN UP AT CHICAGO

Ryder Declares that Although it Has Been in Effect for a Year There Has Been but One Violation.

Since Police Commissioner J. J. Ryder instituted a "golden rule" policy in the police department a year ago there has been but one "breach of faith," and the police commissioner has now placed his final stamp of approval on this plan of dealing with minor offenders against the law.

"I see this plan of dealing with men under the influence of drink is being taken up in Chicago as something new," said the police commissioner. "We have been working under it here for about a year and have found it an admirable system."

Citizens who indulge in an occasional spree and make the acquaintance of a copper while in this condition are no longer "jugged," but are taken home by the policeman. In case the offender refuses to go home and becomes obstreperous, the policeman takes him to the station, sobers him up and advises him that home is a good place to go to.

The one case where the "golden rule" failed to work was the case of a drunken person who tore up the golden rule summons to appear and explain his actions in police court. Within an hour after he had torn up the summons the police had taken him to the station and lodged a

Dooley Promoted to Executive Job

I. M. Dooley, who has been superintendent of terminals for the Missouri Pacific in Omaha for the last five years, has been promoted to the office of inspector of transportation of the Texas & Pacific system of the Gould lines with headquarters in New Orleans. Mr. Dooley will leave Omaha January 1 to take up his new duties, but his wife and children will remain here until May. No successor has been announced for Mr. Dooley, but a well confirmed rumor suggests the name of C. H. Huxford, the present general yardmaster.
